

CALL FOR ENTRIES!

"This Fragile Earth"

*An Exhibition of Art by Diocese of New Jersey artists
Celebrating Environmental Stewardship
March 27- May 21, 2010 Trinity Cathedral, Trenton*

"The Earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof"
Psalm 24:1

Christians are called to be stewards of Creation: to nurture, to protect, and to preserve it.

In conjunction with Trinity Cathedral's Sustainability Committee, ECVA NJ (The Episcopal Church and Visual Arts) invites artists across the Diocese to submit art on the subject of God's Creation, and our role in nurturing, protecting and preserving it.

We are seeking both art that celebrates the natural world, and art that calls our attention to environmental issues.

Who is eligible? Artists 18 years of age or older who are associated with the Episcopal Church.

What may be submitted? Up to three pieces of original art in any medium, two dimensional or three-dimensional. Painting, Sculpture, Photography, Mixed Media, Fiber Art, Stained Glass, Collage, etc. Two dimensional art must be framed and ready to hang. (Art which has been previously exhibited at Trinity Cathedral is not eligible.)

To Submit Images: Although this is not a juried show, due to space limitations, the exhibit committee may need to select only one or two from the pieces you submit.

Please send a completed Entry Form along with digital images to ruth@councill.net (Digital images are preferred.) Or you can mail your entry form with photos to

Diocese of New Jersey
808 West State Street
Trenton, New Jersey 08618-5326 (Attention: ECVA)

no later than Friday, March 12, 2010. Your photos will be returned to you. You will be notified which of your pieces will be shown by Monday, March 15. Accepted work should be delivered to the Cathedral between Saturday, March 20 and Thursday, March 25.

Entry forms may be obtained from Eileen Kennedy efkennedy@gmail.com or Ruth, or they can be downloaded from the ECVA NJ Web site www.newjersey.anglican.org/arts